REAL ESTATE OPPORTUNITIES

The real estate sector's success in recovering from the Covid-19 repercussions.

Huge investments pumped by the government in urban development, utilities and infrastructure that serve real estate projects. The government has pumped EGP 1.7 trillion of investment to infrastructure during the past seven years.

The multiplicity of real estate exhibitions held in Egypt throughout the year.

The Presidential Real Estate Finance Initiative supports consumer demand for middle-income real estate units, and a number of real estate developers have begun to benefit from it.

The high demand for real estate units of all types.

The state encourages real estate projects with green architecture.

The government decision to grant residency to foreign real estate owners empower the real estate export

The government's tendency to strengthen partnership with the private sector in real estate projects in new cities

REAL ESTATE CHALLENGES

Customers defaulting on payment which could lead to a shortage in developer's cash flows.

The first time developers, with limited experience, may be mistaken by the appropriate price policy, or they may be late in delivering the units, which will give a negative mental image to customers.

The growing uncertainty about the real estate legislative, as it is witnessing the amendments of a number of laws and decisions that require dialogue sessions between the government and real estate developers.

The rising price of building materials and the rising cost of land.
